The ban on all night parking on Bethel ways and streets became effective on Nov. 1. Any-one leaving their vehicle all night on the streets will be subject to a fine.

It was voted at the last Selectmen's meeting to restrict parking on Church Street the same as last year. There will be one hour parking from the Gould Academy Infirmary to Winter Street as soon as the signs are erected.

Bruce Boyce has terminated his employment with the town. He has accepted a job at the new school site. We are very short of help in the highway department and will miss Bruce.

BETHEL YOUTH INJURED IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

David Walker, 16, of South Bethel, received a painful injury to his right foot while he was hunting in the Northwest section of town on Saturday, Nov. 4.

Reportedly, he rented a 303 rifle on the top of his foot and it accidentally discharged. He and his companion, Alan Buckman, also of South Bethel, stopped Mrs. Charles Mason, who was traveling to her home, and she transported them to the office of Dr. Roy Harrell. Following treatment he was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway, where he remains a patient.

VETERAN'S DAY

Through recorded history, and no doubt for hundreds of thousands of years before that it has been a tragic fact that the loss of the young men have had to carry the burden of fighting the battles and the wars in which their families, their tribes or their nations have been involved in the United States today, every person, every family and most especially those with children know well that civilization has not yet progressed far enough to lift this burden from the young people who now fight on an alien battlefield in defense of the life and property for which the country stands.

During the November 11 observance of Veterans Day, the nation will pause to honor those veterans, living and dead, who have served in the U. S. armed forces in time of war. It is especially fitting at this time that they be honored. World War I veterans, who served in the first great war, have been honored for many years. World War II veterans, who served in the second great war, have been honored for many years. Korea and Vietnam veterans, who served in the recent wars, have been honored for many years.

SHERIFF WARNS OF SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITY

Oxford County Sheriff W Stanley Haskell sounded an alarm to property owners to keep their eyes open for suspicious day-time activity in their neighborhoods and keep their doors locked when they leave their homes unoccupied.

The warning came in the wake of a series of daylight house breaks over the past month.

"If people see any suspicious activity in their neighborhoods they should call us immediately," Haskell said Wednesday. He said this included strange motorists who appeared to be having car troubles.

He pointed to 10 recent daylight house breaks which have occurred in Oxford County or just over the county lines in Androscoggin and Cumberland.

Previously, breaks have been reported in Oxford, Bethel, Fryeburg, Bridgton, Harrison, two in Buckfield and two just outside Buckfield in Androscoggin County. Guns, television sets and cash were reported taken in the breaks.

Haskell said in some instances, houses were left unlocked in other cases, the houses were forcibly entered.

BACK-YARD FRONTIER

by Polly Bradley
Meditation Before
Six Garbage Cans

I sit by my window, peacefully contemplating six garbage cans, full. The great question on our street today is, "Will the garbage man come?" He's two days late already—and our town uses the Saugus dump, whose status changes daily, now open, now closed. The official line is, "Don't worry," but the local rumor factory must be paying time-and-a-half these days.

The most encouraging sign of public awareness is that on Monday morning an unusual number of men were noted stomping up and down in their garbage cans to make them hold more garbage.

The local hardware store reports a great run on garbage cans—everyone is buying a few extras in case of emergency.

However, according to the local grocery store, there has been no decrease in sale of items in disposable containers.

That's typical of our town's approach to the problem. Think a week ahead, but for long term planning the catch approach will do well, we might as well go stick our heads in a garbage can and face the problem head-on.

What do we need—not only here but everywhere in our effluent society? Indiscriminate local dumping is no answer. We're filling up valuable and irreplaceable fields and marshlands, and the rubbish is only going to get more plentiful as people get more numerous and land gets more scarce. To deal with our wastes we need the best modern technology, which is more expensive than any one town can handle by itself. The towns need to get together and plan ahead.

At the moment, regional high-efficiency incinerators, regulated to produce a minimum of air pollution, seem to be the best approach. However, eventually technology must produce a better answer: what we really should do is recycle our wastes, so that we don't throw away valuable minerals. But right now, regional incinerators have my vote.

What does NOT have my vote is using the islands in the Boston harbor for dumping grounds, as someone has suggested. How short-sighted can you get? There's more floating every year so more people enjoy those untrampled spots far from the arms of the spider highway. Those islands are worth their weight in gold to anyone who considers human happiness and delight to have a penny or two of value. They should be kept as safe from exploitation as the gold in Fort Knox.

Anyway, there aren't enough islands on earth to solve the garbage problem—even if we decided to solve the entire U. S. garbage problem by evacuating Hawaii and shipping all our trash there on the Queen Elizabeth. Instead, suppose we try some foresight and some co-ordination between the towns.

Of course it takes time to build incinerators. I hear tell that the Saugus dump situation

GILEAD

— Mrs. Clifford O. Cole, Cor. —
Jerry Tyler and Fernand Corriveau were lucky hunters last week.

Charles McLain of Peabody, Mass., is at his camp on the North Road in Gilead.

George Decoster is enjoying a vacation from his work at Berlin, N. H.

Woodrow MacArthur had a vacation from his work last week. Mr. and Mrs. Jill Couillard returned to Canada Sunday after spending their honeymoon with his grandmother, Mrs. Octavia Corriveau, and his uncle, Fernand Corriveau and family.

is an emergency. What? Even the local rumor factory wasn't shocked on this one. It was common knowledge at least two years ago that the Saugus dump would have to be closed in a couple of years. And every town in New England knows it will face the problem sooner or later.

Did our town think the garbage problem would "fold up its tent like the Arabs and silently 'deal away'?" Of course, vanishing is a possible solution—if the garbage man doesn't come soon, the town may sink into the sea under the weight of its own accumulated debris.

I'm not worrying, though I just bought six shiny, new garbage cans, and I'm prepared for any eventuality. One must think ahead. I'm sure the tranquil day will come when the memory of this will be sheer poetry. As Wordsworth said, poetry arises from "emotion recollected in tranquillity."

Tranquillizer, anyone?

ANARCHY VERSUS RESPONSIBILITY

Much of the disorderly conduct and destruction of property that is carried on today in the name of freedom and independence of the individual is a sheer insult to the high principles of human liberty. Alexis De Tocqueville observed in 1835, as he commented on the unique qualities of the American experiment: "The revolution of the United States was the result of a mature and reflecting preference for freedom, and not of a vague or ill-defined craving for independence. It contracted no alliance with turbulent passions of anarchy but its course was marked, on the contrary, by a love of order and law. It was never assumed in the United States that the citizen of a free country has a right to do whatever he pleases. On the contrary, more social obligations were there imposed upon him than anywhere else." De Tocque-

"SOMETHING FROM HOME"*BEST GIFT, SERVICEMEN SAY

"Something personal" from the loved ones at home topped the list of Christmas gifts preferred by servicemen overseas, according to a survey just completed by American Red Cross workers serving with U. S. forces around the world.

Family snapshots and portraits, voice tapes, hometown newspapers, and many more letters were the most frequent gift suggestions made by servicemen in Europe, Korea, Japan, Vietnam, and at other military posts overseas. Another timely tip for the folks back home was to use hometown newspapers as packing in holiday parcels to give the serviceman additional enjoyment as he catches up on the latest news from home.

Almost important as the gifts themselves is the need to mail them in sufficient time for delivery before Christmas Day, the Red Cross said. U. S. Post Office deadlines for overseas mailings are November 10, if by surface, or December 10, if by air mail. Many families mail their gifts a week or two in advance of these dates, it was pointed out.

Other gifts high on the list of preferred items included paperback books, magazines, small puzzles and tabletop games, stationery with self-sealing envelopes, brand name articles known as the serviceman's preference, and even extra money for leaves or purchase of small items from foreign countries.

Home-baked foods such as cake or cookies are always welcome, but such perishable gifts are usually not practical gifts for a serviceman in distant tropical areas like Southeast Asia. Individually wrapped hard candy and cookies in metal containers may arrive unspoiled, but even this is not certain.

The Red Cross discovered that the average serviceman likes gifts with a touch of home because they are more personal and meaningful than luxury items which they can often buy themselves for less money in military post exchanges.

Family gifts should vary according to a man's military location. Depending on climate, coats, sweaters, and other articles of clothing will be welcome if the serviceman is in an area where he can wear civilian clothes when off duty.

The Red Cross followed closely the expressed wants of American servicemen in its Shop Early program. Chapters and organizations' words are particularly apt at the present time.

COLLEGE OFFICIALS PRAISE COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES

Thomas College officials have praised efforts of citizens of communities in the area, other parts of Maine, and out-of-state, where Dollars for Scholars programs are active or being organized.

President John L. Thomas Jr. of Thomas College, and Ford A. Grant, college treasurer, both Waterville, said a number of students enrolled at Thomas are being aided by Dollars for Scholars programs, mainly from this area.

In the Central Maine area, Waterville, Winslow and Skowhegan have active Dollars for Scholars groups. Augusta and Gardiner are other Central Maine communities interested in the program.

President Thomas said citizens and communities where such programs are underway deserve praise and credit for their most worthwhile contribution toward helping young people achieve a college education.

The college president and others at Thomas, including some faculty and staff actively involved in Dollars for Scholars' committee projects in various area communities, cited the "grass-roots" efforts, including large amounts of volunteer time and energy which go into such programs. Dollars for Scholars programs include volunteer committees, often working with young people or as members or as part of cooperating groups, raising funds within a community to help worthy students from that city or town to finance a college education.

Massachusetts was among early state leaders in the Dollars for Scholars program.

Beyond the Central Maine area, other Maine communities with active Dollars for Scholars groups, include Portland, Biddeford, Bath, Brunswick, Cape Elizabeth, Cumberland, Falmouth, Gorham, Norway, South Paris, Scarborough, South Portland, Westbrook, Wadham and Yarmouth.

Throughout the United States have packed special gift bags with useful personal gifts, and shipped them to Vietnam for the Armed Forces holiday season delivery. More than 525,000 were prepared enough for each service man in that country to receive an individual bag. Of these, 2000 were generally filled with feminine articles for women serving in the armed forces there. Included in the gifts were many and varied popular items such as playing cards, ball point pens, paperback books, writing paper, tapes for recorded messages, assorted games and toilet articles.
